WHAT TO DO

If a Child Was Hit by a Car While Riding a Bike

Few things are more terrifying than seeing a car run into a child on a bike. Even if it is a low-impact collision, the child can suffer catastrophic injuries in a bicycle accident. Here are some steps to take if your child was hit by a car while riding a bike.

GET MEDICAL ATTENTION IMMEDIATELY

The child should receive a thorough physical examination by a doctor, even if there are no visible injuries. He might be too young to communicate to you that he is hurting somewhere. He could have an injury to the head, neck, or back and not know it yet. Broken bones and internal injuries can have delayed symptoms.

If you have any doubt about your child's health, do not move your child - call 911. Protect her from injury from other vehicles while waiting for emergency help to arrive.

Another reason to take the child to the doctor right away is to document that his injuries came from the collision. Cases with injured children can involve high-dollar settlements, which means that the insurance company will defend the claim vigorously. To protect the child's right to compensation, get a medical evaluation immediately.

REPORT THE ACCIDENT

After addressing your child's immediate medical needs, contact your local law enforcement to report the accident if no officer came to the scene. State law requires you to report all wrecks with injuries as soon as possible. The report will also serve as evidence of what happened and why your child suffered injuries.

COLLECT CONTACT INFORMATION

Get the names, contact, and insurance information of all drivers involved in the accident. Also, get the names and contact information of all witnesses who can explain what happened.

GET A PERSONAL INJURY LAWYER

Work with a personal injury lawyer after any accident that caused injuries, especially if a child suffered injuries. There may be additional steps to take to satisfy the legal requirements for a child car accident claim.

GET PSYCHOLOGICAL HELP FOR THE CHILD

Imagine how traumatic it would be for a child to be hit by a car while riding a bike. Take your child for assessment and treatment from a mental health professional. Trauma such as this may have emotional and psychological effects, including:

- PTSD (post-traumatic stress disorder)
- Anxiety
- Fear of going out in public
- Depression
- Feelings of anger or hopelessness
- Flashbacks
- Nightmares

PRESERVE THE EVIDENCE

Save everything from the day of the accident. You might not think that something is vital to the claim until long after the wreck, and then it will be too late if you have disposed of an item. Keep your child's bike, clothing, shoes and any other relevant evidence.

Photograph the scene as soon as possible. Capture how the area looked on the day of the incident, in case the driver makes up an excuse that the photos could disprove. Also, write down everything you can remember while the event is fresh in your mind. These notes can be useful to refresh your recollection later in the legal process.

FOLLOW THE STATE LAW ABOUT PERSONAL INJURY SETTLEMENTS FOR MINORS

Washington State law may require that we take extra steps in injury cases involving minors. For example, court approval of the settlement, funds go into a trust account for the child, etc. The statute of limitations differs in child injury cases too. A child has until their 21st birthday to file a lawsuit injury claim.

Protect your child's right to compensation by getting a personal injury lawyer on board now. Call Max Meyers Law at 425-276-7804.

We will give you a free consultation and don't charge legal fees until we get your child compensation.

What our clients are saying...

I was laid up several months from the accident and didn't contact a lawyer for a while. The first lawyer I contacted didn't want to take my case; the at-fault driver had a medical issue. The hospital, doctor, and physical therapy bills were overwhelming, we knew we needed a lawyer.

Max was recommended, so we gave him a call and made an appointment to come into his office. Right from the beginning Max was very professional and said we had a very good case.

The at-fault driver had minimal insurance with a high-risk company. Max dealt with the at-fault driver's insurance & then filed a claim with our own insurance for the uninsured/underinsured portion. Max's firm made sure all our medical bills were taken care of and called monthly to see how I was doing.

He got us a settlement with our own insurance company which was much more than we ever anticipated. We were very pleased. If the accident never happened would be my first choice because I'll never be the same, but at least the settlement helps to offset things. I like to add that the communications with Max & the office were great. E-mails were answered promptly and if we needed to talk with Max we were connected right away or he called right back.

- Perry

I went to see Max a while ago about an accident I had gotten into. I was rear ended and needed help because at the time I had no insurance. I had accidentally let it lapse (never happening again), anyways, Max assured me he could help and he did. He got me a great settlement but most of all he was kind and very clear about what needed to be done and what to expect. I will definitely suggest Max to anyone I know from here on out! Thanks Max!

Shelly's RECIPE CORNER

Roasted Balsamic Cranberry & Brie

Try this fun and festive appetizer for Thanksgiving... simple, quick and delicious!

Ingredients:

- 2 Tablespoons butter, melted
- 2 Tablespoons olive oil
- 1/2 a french baguette, sliced thin
- 12 ounces fresh cranberries
- 2 Tablespoons balsamic vinegar
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 Tablespoon rosemary
- 4 ounces triple cream brie

Directions:

Preheat oven to 425 degrees.

In a small bowl, whisk together the butter and olive oil. Brush both sides of the baguette slices with mixture and line them up on a baking sheet. Set aside.

In another small bowl, stir together the cranberries, balsamic vinegar, sugar, and rosemary. Spread these out on a rimmed baking sheet. (They get pretty sticky, so if you want to avoid scrubbing, line the pan with parchment paper).

Place the cranberries in the oven. Roast for five minutes, then add the tray of baguette slices to the oven. Roast for an additional 6 minutes then remove the baguette slices, flip them over, and return to the oven for another 4-6 minutes, or until crispy and golden. At this point, the cranberries should be popped open with juices running out. Remove both the cranberries and baguette slices from the oven.

Top each baguette with a slice of brie and a spoonful of cranberries. Garnish with thyme if desired. These can be served while the cranberries are still warm, or you can make the components ahead of time. The cranberries can be chilled overnight and the crostini will keep in a zip lock bag. Simply assemble and serve at room temperature when you are ready!

OLYMPIA TOY RUN

MaxPower Law is a proud sponsor of the annual Toy Run in Olympia on Saturday, December 7th! All proceeds benefit the Salvation Army "Toy n' Joy" Shop. Here is an overview of the event from the Toy Run home page:

The Olympia Toy Run brings motorcyclists together for a very worthy purpose: the joy of a child receiving a gift at Christmas. All the toys and money are donated to the Salvation Army for distribution to needy kids through its Toy n' Joy Shop. Strapped to bikes four abreast in row after row are lots and lots of brand-new children's toys. Gleaming bikes sport different names and badges and colors and their riders range from all-season diehards to weekend enthusiasts. For this day, we are one sister/brotherhood of riders thinking of the smiles our toys will bring to kids' faces.

This is such a wonderful event and a great way to support kids in need this holiday season. You don't want to miss it!
